

Aegis Live Soldier Worms™

Soldier Worms™ are a high calcium, high protein feeder insect, also known as black soldier fly larvae (Hermetia illucens). They can be used as a treat for reptiles, birds, fish, spiders, tenrecs and other insect-loving animals. They are a nutritious and environmentally-friendly alternative to mealworms, superworms, crickets and dubia roaches. Soldier Worms™ have 50x more calcium than other feeder insects, so there is no need to add calcium powder.

Aegis Dried Soldier Worms™

Dried Soldier Worms™ contain all the same nutrients as our live Soldier Worms™. The drying process increases the time the product can be stored and locks in nutrients for later use. These treats can be given to reptiles, fish, birds, tenrecs and other insect-loving animals. The high calcium and high protein content make for an excellent and healthy additive to a complete diet.

Aegis Soldier Worm Pupae™

Soldier Worm Pupae™ are used mainly for those who are looking to feed their pets the adult flies to their pets. The pupae eclose, or 'hatch', over a period of weeks, giving a gradual amount of feeder insects, rather than a whole lot all at once. The flies are very high in protein and are the perfect feeder insect for tarantulas, reptiles, fish, birds and other insect-loving animals.
